The City of Murrieta is updating the General Plan, a document that will shape private and public development in our community. As part of this effort, the City is holding workshops to solicit property owner and or members of the public opinions on current land use policies and regulations in six identified areas. The map on the back identifies the six areas. The first workshop will be structured as an open house with station areas that will also provide information on key topics including:

- Project Overview;
- Land Use Planning Program;
- Changes in State Law since 2011;
- Climate change;
- Circulation; and
- Water resources.

This workshop will provide opportunities for members of the public to speak with the Project Team and to provide input on the various topics.
